

As we come to the close of another summer of shooting here in Indiana, I hope everyone has achieved the goals that you set for yourselves. I know I am already looking forward to next year and trying to set some new goals for myself, as well as meeting some goals I didn't meet this past shooting season. One thing I will be able to do this winter is to catch up on reading all of my Trap and Field magazines that I didn't have time to read this past summer. The winter also gives me time to reload a lot of shells and be ready to shoot when spring arrives.

I would like to congratulate all the Indiana shooters who won trophies at the Grand American. They were: Jack Curry, Matt Perkins, Jacob Wieneke, Larry Schauss, Cody Sullivan, Brandon Sullivan, Robert Hardy, Devon Harris, Scott Norris, Paul Rode, Morris Cornelius, Raymond Strabavy, Tom Strabavy, William Brom, Curtis Schum, Wayne Downham, Corbin Cox, Tom Kleyla, Devin Harris, Jeffery Webb, Bobby Hubble, Marvin Wickey, John Howard, Gary Evans, Gene Baxter, William Tucker, James Wilson, Gilbert Huffman, Robert Krohn, Howard Thomas II, Larry Ellis, Mark Jamison, Steve Auberry, Barbara Rocheford, Richard Self, and James VanBlaricum.

There are a lot of clubs in Indiana that will throw targets all winter. If you want to shoot some registered targets and get a jump on next year, go to our website, "Indiana Trapshooters". There is a list of the gun clubs and the dates they shoot registered targets.
